WCH district receives six parcels

Land transfer issue settled by state board of education

BY GEORGE MALEK

Action by the Ohio Board of Education Monday night has made the boundaries of the City of Washington C.H. and the Washington C.H. School District identical.

The action by the state school board transfers six parcels of land from the Miami Trace District to the Washington C.H. School District. The six tracts had been within the city corporation limits but had been considered part of the county school system.

THE SIX tracts transferred were a 70-acre tract on which the city sewage treatment plant and Christman Park are located, a .54-acre tract (the Dr. J.H. Persinger home) near Highland Avenue; a 23.5-acre tract (trailer park) on Robinson Road; lot 154 of the Rosemont Court addition; 78.2-acres near the corporation line on the CCC Highway-E; and .94-acres on N. North Street (site of the proposed Lawson store). Another tract, a .98-acre property on Highland Avenue owned by Betty Duckwall, had been cleared by both school boards for transfer, and that transfer was also approved.

The decision by the board followed a large volume of correspondence from both local school boards and a joint meeting held in Columbus Sunday afternoon. The Washington C.H. district had requested the transfers, and the Miami Trace district had opposed the change.

Of primary importance was the transfer of the 78-acre tract of land on which the new K-Mart store recently opened. Undoubtedly the new building will have a high tax assessment and provide substantial revenue for the school district in which it is located. Not only will the city schools benefit from the added revenue, but since it is a business establishment, there will be no expense to the district for additional students.

The entire membership of the Washington C.H. and Fayette County boards of education met with a committee from the state school board Sunday at the Sheraton Hotel in Columbus. Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of the Washington C.H. School District, cited several reasons why he and the city board members believed the plats should be transferred to their district.

He stressed two major issues in his presentation. The first was the confusion which resulted from having land within the corporation considered part of the Miami Trace School District. He said it is difficult for persons residing within the city limits to understand why their children attend the county schools. At voting time, Nestor added, they face the additional confusion of living in the city and getting city ballots on municipal issues such as income tax and on the county school issues.

The other, and more concrete issue, Nestor made was that the county has a much higher land valuation per pupil than does the city. The Miami Trace School District has an average land valuation of $18,461 per student while the average land valuation per pupil in the city is only $14,947.

Nick Pitner, a Columbus attorney, spoke on behalf of the Fayette County Board of Education. He noted that industrial development in Fayette County has been concentrated within the corporation limits, thus raising the tax duplicate without adding students to the enrollment. In the near future, he argued, the property assessment in Washington C.H. would approach if not surpass the county duplicate.

He added that the trend has been toward subdivision housing. While industrial growth has been in Washington C.H., the population has flowed toward the county. The combined effect of these two trends, he said, is to gradually increase the city school district's revenue while reducing the number of pupils. Thus, he asked that the land transfer requests be denied.

Guy Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, summarized briefly including similar points in his presentation. Members of both boards then responded to questions posed by the state committeemen.

Following an agenda which included a hotly-contested vocational education measure, the state board met for some five hours Monday before the transfer request was considered. Foster and Nestor attended the entire session so that they would be able to respond to any questions the state board might have. The committee had met privately, however, Monday morning and decided to recommend approval. Acting on the committee recommendation, the entire board approved the requests unanimously.

Ford, solons differ on details

Tax rebate pledged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early enactment of an anti-recession tax cut appears certain because President Ford and the heavily Democratic 94th Congress agree that such a step is necessary, although they appear divided over how much of the reduction should go to lower-and middle-income taxpayers.

During a nationally broadcast speech Monday night, the President proposed an across-the-board tax rebate of up to $1,000 on 1974 tax payments.

Most key Democrats reacted to Ford's tax proposals by saying they favor a tax cut about equal to the $16 billion reduction in personal and corporate income taxes that the President urged.

But they said the details of the President's tax cut plan, combined with his proposed $30 billion in oil tax increases expected to raise gas prices up to a nickel a gallon, will fail to ease the economic burden on many Americans or to curb reliance on foreign fuel.

Republicans generally backed Ford's proposals.

The President took his $46 billion program "to put our domestic house in order" to the nation in his speech from the White House library a few hours after House Democrats outlined their economic proposals and two days before he was scheduled to address a joint session of Congress for his State of the Union speech.

The key points of the Ford program include: —Some $12 billion in immediate tax relief by giving individuals a 12 per cent cash rebate on their 1974 tax payments, up to a maximum of $1,000 per taxpayer, plus $4 billion in corporate tax relief.

—Higher taxes on foreign and domestic oil, natural gas and windfall profits of oil producers, which would bring in an added $30 billion. This sum is to be returned to the economy later, reportedly through future reductions in individual and corporate tax rates and increases in the low-income tax allowance.

—A one-year moratorium on new federal spending programs to hold down the anticipated $40 billion federal budget deficit next year, and a 5 per cent limit on increases in federal salaries and pension benefits paid by the Treasury, such as Social Security and veterans benefits.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., scheduled to become chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the tax-writing panel "will move immediately toward a major tax reduction somewhere near the magnitude of the President's recommendations."

However, Ullman called for "sizeable alterations" in Ford's specific plans, saying "any rebate on 1974 taxes would have to focus on low- and middle-income groups and should be combined with more permanent tax reductions for the low-income taxpayer."

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., a senior member of the House Banking Committee, accused Ford of "Robin-Hood-in-reverse economic policy."

"The oil price hikes sock it to the moderate income customer while the 1974 tax rebate lets the rich get richer," he said.

However, Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., called the President's plan "dramatic, well-balanced and comprehensive." Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Ford made clear "he intends to offer a detailed and specific program to deal firmly and actively with the problems of energy and the economy."

Virtually every Democrat who commented Monday night made some reference to the need to give most of the tax cut to lower-and middle-income families, though few said specifically how they would do it.

However, as Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, had predicted after meeting with Ford Monday afternoon, the President's energy tax proposals seemed headed for the greatest controversy.

The House Democratic program unveiled by Speaker Carl Albert Monday failed to specify which means of controlling energy consumption was preferable. Most initial reaction Monday night, however, favored limitation by allocation or even rationing, rather than Ford's plan for increased taxation.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Ford's plan will "drive the price still higher for everything oil touches, from heating homes to manufacturing plastics."

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., said Ford's proposals "appear to be placing an undue part of the burden for conserving gasoline on home heating and electrical customers who have a limited opportunity to conserve."

More funding needed

Satellite clinic proposal pondered

The Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board met at the Fayette Memorial Hospital Monday night for the primary purpose of discussing funding for the proposed, five-county satellite clinics.

According to Dr. Robert L. Sayre, executive director, additional funding is needed to provide mental health services, including professional counseling, after-care for former hospitalized mental health patients, and psychiatric services and consultations to clients outside the services of the Scioto Paint Valley Guidance Center in Chillicothe.

Dr. Sayre has proposed to make the twice-weekly satellite clinics in each of the four surrounding counties outside the Scioto Paint Valley Guidance Center in Ross County an extension of the guidance center in order to offer additional services to residents of Pike, Highland, Fayette and Pickaway counties.

The satellite clinics are proposed to be a one-year, pilot project, Dr. Sayre said, with funding broken down into 75 per cent through Ohio mental health subsidy funds and the remaining 25 per cent of the funding from each of the counties the clinics will be serving.

FAYETTE COUNTY would be required to allot $2,438.89 of the funds for a satellite clinic with state funds totalling $7,316.67.

The Scioto Paint Valley Guidance Center reported there were 14 admissions or readmissions from Fayette County during the month of December bringing a total of 102 active clients from Fayette County in the guidance center for the year. The guidance center has a total of 566 clients presently active in its mental health services.

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners have voted to decline participation in the satellite clinic program because they do not believe there is adequate need for such a clinic in Fayette County, primarily due to the Fayette Progressive School already situated in the county.

However, the school does not care for persons over 21 years of age and an additional operating millage sought in November for the expansion of an adult program at the school was soundly defeated by county voters.

J. Herbert Perrill, of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, said the county commissioners already appropriate a total of $6,365.25 per year based on 25 cents per capita in the county to the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board and they feel this amount is adequate funding for the county's participation in the Scioto Paint Valley Guidance Center in Chillicothe.

Highland and Pike counties have already approved funding for the satellite clinics in their jurisdictions leaving only Fayette and Pickaway counties to express their approval or disapproval of the project to the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board.

Congress eyes economic woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 94th Congress, with more Democrats than any other elected in the past 10 years, faces the nation's worst economic crisis since the Great Depression.

The Congress convenes today with noon-time ceremonies.

The entire House and at least 10 freshmen in the Senate take the oath of office in rituals that include the re-election of Speaker Carl Albert and the announcement of party leaders in both houses.

Some of the members have been here since late December when a few were sworn in privately to gain an edge in seniority.

Thrust into office in the wake of Watergate and severe inflation-recession during the Republican administrations of Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford, this Congress, the most heavily Democratic since 1964, numbers 43 more Democrats in the House and three more in the Senate than the last.

It faces a nation with 7.1 per cent of its people out of work, a total of some 6.5 million persons, and steadily increasing prices which have pushed up the cost of living for Americans more than 12 per cent in a year's time.

Proposed prescriptions for these economic ills have come from President Ford and House Democrats, who advanced proposals Monday for major tax relief this year, thus virtually assuring passage of some form of tax cut.

In addition to the economy, the early business of the new Congress included: —Senate Rule 22, requiring a two-thirds majority to cut off a filibuster. —Whether to seat Republican Louis C. Wyman or Democrat John A. Durkin from New Hampshire as the 11th freshman in the Senate.

—An attempt by freshman Democrats in the House to oust one or more of its powerful committee chairmen.

The fight to make it easier to end a filibuster, a hardy perennial, has been unsuccessful in other Congresses considered less liberal than the 94th.

This year, Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., James B. Pearson, R-Kan., and others seek to lower the required majority to end debate to three-fifths.

The dispute over the New Hampshire Senate seat was left up to the entire Senate to settle when the Rules Committee split four to four Monday over the disputed outcome of last November's election.

The Rules Committee did, however, recommend that the Senate seat Republican Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma without prejudice to the right of his Democratic opponent, Ed Edmonson, to further challenge that election.

The attempt to oust one or more of the veteran committee chairmen in the House received new impetus Monday from Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., temporary chairman of that chamber's 75 freshman Democrats.

He said the most vulnerable chairmen are F. Edward Hebert, D-La., of the Armed Services Committee, W.R. Poage, D-Tex., of Agriculture, and Wright Patman, D-Tex., of Banking.

TALL MAILMEN OR LOW FLYING PLANES? — Carolyn and Richard Little's mailbox on Ohio 41-N is unique in that no one can reach it. The "airmail box" rising above all the other mailboxes on the road, was built by Richard for Carolyn who originally got the idea from someone else. "Some people we know in Five Points built one as a joke and I thought it was real cute so I talked Richard into building me one too," Carolyn confessed. The Little's also have a practical mailbox next to their Record-Herald holder, which is of traditional height and within easy reach of their postal carrier.

Rhodes battling severe head cold

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. James A. Rhodes attempted to recover from a cold today while many of his backers were recuperating from Monday's inaugural celebrations.

Rhodes passed up most of the extra-curricular activities and confided to friends he almost had Republican State Chairman Kent B. McGough read his inaugural speech.

Rhodes, sworn in as Ohio's 63rd governor in Statehouse ceremonies, was suffering from a severe cold and reportedly had a high fever when he made his speech before some 2,000 persons on the west steps of the Capitol.

The 65-year-old governor, taking the reins as governor for the third time, ignored some 100 demonstrators who repeatedly yelled "murderer" and made other catcalls.

The demonstrators, who called themselves the "May 4 Coalition," carried a black flag and other banners, one of them reading:

Protest the Kent State whitewash—indict the real criminal."

A long line of highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies sealed the demonstrators off to the back of the grounds. One of them strayed a chemical believed to be made in the face of three deputies.

The deputies were given first aid in the Statehouse.

There were no arrests. Asked later if the demonstrators bothered him, Rhodes asked: "What demonstrators?"

Rhodes, who was governor at the time, ordered Ohio national guardsmen onto the Kent State University campus in May 1970. Four students were killed in the May 4 confrontation with guardsmen.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, the only other Republican elected to statewide office, was the first to take the oath. Rhodes was the last.

In between, Democratic officeholders were sworn in, although two of them, like Rhodes, had taken earlier oaths.

Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste and Atty. Gen. William J. Brown had both taken their oaths earlier in ceremonies attended by family and friends.

Other Democrats sworn in during the ceremonies included Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson and Treasurer Gertrude Donahay.

In his speech, Rhodes pledged to cut red tape to expand Ohio's economy and hinted strongly that the Ohio Board of Regents, which he created, had served its purpose and could be disbanded.

He said he had ordered the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and the Environmental Protection Agency to break loose a bureaucratic logjam that has tied up energy use and community sewer projects.

Rhodes promised the first ground breaking on new sewage treatment projects within 90-120 days, creating 35,000 new jobs.

"The communities are ready to go. It's time for the state to do its part."

Ohio solons return to work as bills face court action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 111th General Assembly returns to work today faced with a Republican governor and mounting uncertainty over the fate of six bills Democrats pushed through during a hectic opening week.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' swearing-in Monday marked an end to the honeymoon for Democrats who control both houses, and for six days had the convenience of a Democratic governor.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, filed suit in Franklin County Common Pleas Court Monday to block enactment into law of the bills which were signed Saturday by former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Gilligan got the proposed laws without the signature of outgoing Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, a Republican, who had delayed signing the measures on procedural grounds.

Republican Secretary of State Ted W. Brown threw another roadblock in front of the Democratic steamroller when he refused to accept the bills Monday because they were presented by representatives of the former governor, Gilligan, instead of Rhodes.

The secretary of state sent the bills to John M. McElroy, Rhodes' chief aide, who was expected to return them to the state legislature.

Gilligan said he signed the bills on legal advice that the lieutenant governor's signature was neither a legal nor a constitutional requirement. "John Brown's signature is a matter of information," he said. "He is simply required to inform the governor that the constitutional and legal requirements have been met."

Senate Democrats had abandoned a plan to have President Pro Tem Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, bypass Brown and sign the bills.

The Ohio constitution provides that the presiding officer of the Senate shall sign all bills bound for the governor. In another section, the constitution

55 deaths counted

Blizzard's remnants sweeping eastward

By The Associated Press
Remnants of a vicious blizzard that buried parts of the Midwest over the weekend scattered snow across the Northeast today and drove temperatures down to the teens deep into the South.

Heavy-snow warnings for New York and New England were canceled late Monday night. Gale warnings remained along the coast, and 3 to 5 inches of snow covered parts of Maine and New Hampshire during the night.

Temperatures tumbled to their lowest levels of the season in much of the Deep South. Readings in the teens brought out topcoats and heavy sweaters from Alabama through Georgia.

Zero cold lingered in the Midwest and Plains, but temperatures were less severe than a day ago and a gradual moderation was in prospect to aid in digging-out operations.

Fifty-five persons were known dead from the blizzard — termed the worst of the century by some weather authorities — and losses in livestock were expected to run into the thousands in Iowa alone.

Fourteen persons died in Minnesota, 13 in Nebraska, 8 each in Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota, two in Michigan and one each in Illinois and Wisconsin.

There was no firm estimate of the dollar loss, which was expected to run in the millions.

The Minnesota Highway Department reported most highways in the state would be passable today. Although trains resumed schedules Monday, tracks sometimes disappeared beneath the snow. Much of the state had 12 to 20 inches, in many cases heaped into 10- and 12-foot drifts.

Many schools remained closed in Minnesota, western Iowa and eastern Nebraska. In Omaha, the city's transit system was offering free bus service to keep cars off the streets — clogged by an estimated 2,000 abandoned autos.

In Iowa, numerous roads remained impassable late Monday and the highway patrol said thousands of cars littered streets and highways in the western part of the state.

Agricultural specialists said losses from the blizzard in Iowa could top those caused by an April 1973 storm that killed 20 million worth of livestock and poultry.

Livestock losses also could run into the thousands in southwestern Minnesota, according to officials there.

John Graff, a National Weather Service meteorologist in Minneapolis, said the blizzard was the state's worst since 1888, despite the fact that the Armistice Day 1940 blizzard claimed more lives — 49.

He said the weekend storm had more snow, the winds were stronger and lasted longer and temperatures dropped faster.

Oil import quotas threatened by Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has proposed to spoil the nation's petroleum appetite with an $18.2 billion price hike, but has threatened oil import quotas if higher prices don't cut demand.

The President's plan drew support from Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, but sharp criticism from some congressional Democrats.

Ford's proposals would increase the price of gasoline and fuel oils around five cents per gallon and the price of natural gas about 37 cents per thousand cubic feet, a 32 per cent increase in the average price of residential gas.

The alternative — direct limits on oil imports — would mean self-imposed oil shortages similar to those imposed last winter by the Arab oil embargo.

Although Ford proposed to return the oil and gas price increases to the public through direct payments and tax credits, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said the plan would "sock it to the moderate income customer." Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said it would "drive the price still higher for everything oil touches, from heating homes to manufacturing plastics."

Reuss and Church urged direct government limits on oil demand through allocation or even rationing.

Ford said he would use his oil allocation authority to smooth out distribution problems. But he said his proposals, if quickly enacted by Congress, would render unnecessary both fuel rationing and the long service station lines that accompany strict allocation.

Another Ford proposal, to postpone for five years the strict 1977 anti-pollution standards for automobiles in return for a 40 per cent improvement in fuel economy, drew enthusiasm from spokesmen for the auto industry, which has been urging the postponement.

Ford has already obtained industry commitments to improve average auto mileage from the present 14 miles a gallon to about 20, by 1980, a source said.

There was no immediate reaction from environmental groups, but the proposal was virtually certain to anger them. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, who authored the auto standards, has opposed the five-year delay.

Administration sources said further energy proposals would be announced Wednesday in the President's State of the Union address, but the program was clearly keyed to shifting demand from oil and natural gas to other areas by manipulating prices.

Ford said his goal was to reduce oil imports by one million barrels a day by the end of this year and another one million barrels daily by the end of 1977.

An administration source said this did not mean an absolute reduction from the nation's present oil consumption, but rather holding future consumption one million barrels below the levels it would otherwise reach. Ford said his proposals would seek to encourage expansion of energy utilities by special provisions for business investment tax credits.

Ford also said stronger measures would be needed to speed the development of domestic coal, geothermal power, solar energy and nuclear power, but he offered no details.

designates the lieutenant governor as the Senate's presiding officer.

The lieutenant governor's role is expected to be the basis of court challenges to the six measures.

The partisan bill package included a plan to redraw Ohio congressional districts along lines more favorable to Democrats and a measure to extend unemployment benefits.

Democrats, using their 59-40 margin in the House and 21-12 majority in the Senate, also passed bills:

—To ease voter registration;

—Strip Secretary of State Brown of much of his authority over election appointments;

—Transfer the Consumer Protection Division from the commerce department to the attorney general's office, and move the income tax division to state Treasurer's office.

The two division switches would place jobs under Democratic officeholders rather than the new Republican administration.

The House and Senate met briefly in skeleton sessions on Monday and the House scheduled another abbreviated meeting this morning.

The Senate, however, planned to get down to serious business with a full afternoon session during which 21 new bills are slated for introduction.

Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, has 15 bills on file, mostly involving liberalized voting laws, including the lowering of residency requirements from six months to 30 days in line with federal statutes on presidential elections.

The Senate will also be asked to appropriate $5 million for Case Western Reserve University's medical school. And in a carry-over from last week, emergency legislation will be introduced to speed the state's participation in a federal extension of unemployment benefits from 26 to 39 weeks. The emergency clause was stripped from the Democratic bill passed last week.

Freshman Sens. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, and John T. McCormack, D-25 Euclid, have filed a bill calling for suspension of sales taxes on automobile sales until Jan. 1, 1976 or until the national unemployment level dips below 4 per cent.

Forty-four bills have been introduced in the Senate and 90 in the House since the session opened Jan. 6.

Land transfer

were, of course, quite pleased. Although Foster was quite disappointed, he and members of the Fayette County Board of Education accepted the board's decision graciously.

The county superintendent said he did not feel the decision should be interpreted a blanket approval of all transfer requests which might arise at a later date. "I feel the decision in no way implied future annexation would be automatically granted each time the city extended its corporation limit," Foster said.

He explained the decision merely indicated the state board felt the best interests of both districts would be best served by approving the present transfer. "If a transfer proposed at a later date would clearly injure the Miami Trace district's ability to serve its students, I am confident the state board would deny the request," he emphasized.

Although no grounds for the decision were publicly announced, Foster felt that the difference in taxable land value per student was a major factor. "The board was also influenced, I feel, by the fact that the city currently has a higher school millage than does the county," he added. "The board likes to help those who help themselves." He explained that the higher millage in the city indicated to state board members that city residents had a strong desire to improve their schools, and the added revenue from the transfers will assist them in doing so.

A timetable for the transfers was set in the state board's transfer approval. Students living in the areas which are to be annexed will begin attending Washington C.H. city schools as of July 1. Revenue from taxation of the properties will be added to the city school duplicate as of Jan. 1, 1976. Only about a dozen students will be effected by the new boundaries. They are the children of families residing in the Robinson Road trailer park.

ANOTHER TOPIC discussed at the joint meeting with committeemen as the inadvertent addition of the trailer park to the city tax duplicate in the fall of 1968. Fayette County auditor Mary Morris had begun distributing the tax money from the Robinson Road plat to the city school district at the time the land was incorporated into Washington C.H. several years ago.

Although the state board made it clear that it had no jurisdiction concerning an official pronouncement on the matter, it was the consensus of all concerned that this tax money should be returned by the city and redistributed to the county. However, since the city board of education cannot "give away" money, it appears an official announcement by the county auditor or the Fayette County Common Pleas Court will be necessary. Estimates of the total amount involved range in the neighborhood of $6,000.

If this redistribution of money is activated, those who paid the tax will probably receive a very minimal rebate of tax money. This will be caused by the difference in the tax rate between the two schools. The total refund to the landowners should be in the neighborhood of $500 to $1,000 which would then be divided among them in proportion with the amount of land each owns.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, withholding any clear verdict on the economic and energy measures outlined by President Ford Monday night.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .15 at 654.53, but gainers trailed losers by about a 3-2 margin overall on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderately active.

It appeared a good many investors were waiting for further details of the President's economic plans in his State of the Union message Wednesday and for subsequent signs of how Congress would respond to them.

Philip Morris, the Big Board volume leader, tumbled 4 1/2 to 43 1/2. Wall Street sources said the brokerage firm of Baker, Weeks & Co. had changed its recommendation on the issue, an institutional favorite, from buy to hold.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index slipped .18 to 67.32.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks as off .10 at 38.34.

Heitman Mortgage Investors, the Amex's most active issue, was unchanged at 3.

Hugh Hefner aide dies

CHICAGO (AP) — The executive assistant to Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner has been found dead of what authorities have termed an apparent overdose of drugs.

Bobbie Arnstein, 34, whose body was found in a hotel room Monday, was convicted recently on federal charges of conspiring with two men to distribute cocaine.

She had received a 15-year prison sentence, pending a 90-day psychiatric examination. While appealing the conviction, Miss Arnstein had returned to work for Hefner.

A federal grand jury has been investigating charges that narcotics have been used at Hefner's mansions in Chicago and Beverly Hills, Calif. Several employees of Hefner's $200 million corporate empire of magazines, hotels, clubs and films appeared before the grand jury in Chicago in December.

Police said they did not know whether the apparent overdose which took Miss Arnstein's life was accidental. They said she checked into the Maryland Hotel Saturday under the name of Roberta Hillman.

Opinion And Comment

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

Straight thinking

When Bill Buckley, the editor, columnist and TV showman, takes himself to Switzerland for the ski season, he manages to come home with a searching book about the shortcoming of the UN. Obviously, a regimen of healthy exercise is good for one's mental functions.

But when President Ford goes to the ski slopes of Colorado for a week's "working holiday," he gets it in the neck, even from his Republican friends. Vail is set down as far too fancy a resort to be compatible with straight thinking and trustworthy decisions about the problems that beset the nation.

The answer to such picayunish criticism is "stuff and nonsense." Administrative decisions do not depend on Potomac water. Ford showed that his ski cap is also a thinking cap when he vetoed two bills, one that would have let the environmentalists stifle the progress of strip mining through their inveterate litigiousness during a period of energy shortage, and a second piece of misguided legislation that would have added to our fuel bills by requiring that 20-to-30 per cent of all imported oil be brought to our shores in U.S. flag tankers.

Though the extreme environmentalists would dispute it, the veto of the strip mining bill will hardly be the source of any long-term damage to the cause of soil conservation. The American West is not going to be ripped up overnight to satisfy the requirements of the rest of the nation for fuel.

A paper read at the American Mining Congress autumn meeting in Las Vegas posed the immense difficulties of finding the billions of dollars that are needed for the new rail equipment, the rail-water terminals and, where a water supply permits, the pipelines to bring Western coal to Eastern power plants and factories. The required capital development would take a decade even under the best of circumstances; under double-digit inflationary conditions, it could be a full generation before Western coal begins moving in Eastern markets.

Meanwhile, the states are not standing still when it comes to providing for surface mining reclamation. North Dakota, which has immense deposits of lignite coal (30 billion tons of so-called strippable reserves), requires the posting of a $500 per acre bond for returning surface-mined areas to their approximate original contours and for covering the land with two feet of topsoil. The predictions are that the bond will be increased during the coming North Dakota legislative session.

In neighboring Montana, where there is plenty of coal, surface manipulation on test plots has proved that strip mining restoration can actually increase soil moisture content, vegetational cover and growth. And in the Four Corners area of New Mexico, which supplies coal and power for the industries of New Mexico, Arizona, Texas and California, a drip system of irrigation is being used to minimize erosion of restored contours.

As Irwin Reiss, the vice president of the Amax Coal Company of Indianapolis, Ind., puts it, surface mining is only an "interim use" of land. Reiss, who is in strip mine reclamation for the money that is in it as well as for esthetic reasons, has followed the evolution of his specialty from its beginnings.

"At first," he says, "nature did the reclaiming. Next came tree planting. Then a strike-off of the peaks and ridges. . . . Next we found that grass and legumes would grow on some of this land. As we looked closer we found that some of the new land was better than the old. As we turned up virgin soil with our big plows — we're really not miners, we are farmers — we found we could grow alfalfa without adding limestone and fertilizer."

This sort of evolution is available to any state that wants to pass its own strip mine legislation. Reiss's company is now operating mines in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Wyoming. The gospel will spread without forcing the issue from Washington, for, as Reiss says: "Corn, coal and cattle are compatible."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Forty winks on the Ten Commandments?

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful idea, but I need your help. We should go back to God's laws, so I thought up the idea of having the Ten Commandments printed on bedsheets and pillow cases.

If all the people who are shoplifting were to see "Thou shalt not steal" printed on their bedsheets every night, they would quit stealing.

Also, people need to be reminded that it is a sin to kill, and to commit adultery, and to covet another man's wife. They forget that it's God's law to honor their mothers and fathers, and to remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy. If we had the Ten Commandments printed on bedsheets and pillow cases, it could change the world.

I wrote to two manufacturers of bed linen, and even sent them a sample sheet that I made up myself, and they both turned me down flat.

What do you think of my idea?

GREAT IDEA IN WASHINGTON

DEAR GREAT: Send me a sample, and I'll sleep on it.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it considered the wife's responsibility to take care of all the social obligations? SHE has to acknowledge all the gifts with thank-you notes. And if she doesn't do it, THEY don't have bad manners, SHE does.

SHE is expected to remember all the birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, graduations, etc. on both sides of the family. She also has to do all the Christmas shopping for her family and his.

The fact that the husband "works" supposedly excuses him from all other obligations—even buying a birthday card for his own mother. Today many wives are also working full-time outside the home, but this isn't an acceptable excuse for them.

If you can explain this to me, Abby, you are a genius.

A WOMAN, NATURALLY

DEAR WOMAN: I'm no genius, but I'll try: The notion that all the social obligations should be handled by the wife is a carry-over from the days when the wife stayed home and took care of the kids, the kitchen, the correspondence and the Christmas list.

Today, when so many women contribute financially to the support of the family, I think their husbands should assume their fair share of the social obligations.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, a friend of mine came to me for financial help. He had gotten a girl in trouble (he was a family man) and needed $500 for an abortion.

I gave him the cash. When he got his next paycheck he gave me $50 toward the debt. Then he had some more hard luck. One of his teen-age kids was in a car accident and had to spend five months in a hospital. The bills were unbelievable, so he couldn't pay anything on what he owed me.

Then my friend got sick, had surgery, and he was terminal. Thank God he went fast.

I don't know why, but I told my wife this man owed me $450, but I never told her what for. Now she's after me to collect the debt from his widow, who got some good insurance benefits.

I had no note, but my word would be good with his widow. But what if she asks me what it was for?

EL CENTRO

DEAR EL: I don't know what your financial situation is, but unless you are desperate for the $450, forget it, and charge it to friendship.

Questions on economy continue to linger

NEW YORK (AP) — On the eve of a momentous change in economic policy, one of the most abrupt on record, some disquieting questions linger about the reasons why.

Just a few weeks ago there was considerable support within the administration for continuing to depress economic activity, the reasoning being that inflation was the No. 1 problem.

The Federal Reserve Board shared that outlook and responded by squeezing activity out of the money market, through the medium of high interest rates discouraging both individuals and businesses from borrowing.

It succeeded. To a very large degree the plunge taken by the economy in the fourth quarter of 1974, marked by a 7.1 jobless rate in December, was a direct result of administration and Federal Reserve policy.

The question: Why couldn't it have foreseen the results of the policy when those results were just around the corner beyond which all economic brains are constantly peeking? The lesson to be learned is either of two possibilities — that it is the nature of modern economies to lurch ahead and then all but expire, or that the people who lead modern economies really can't handle them.

And that brings up the next question: What assurance do we have that a tax cut and other stimulants won't some time in the next year provide the fuel for another destructive encounter with inflation? The best assurance there is that it will not is that the impact of the previous miscalculation still has so far to go. That is, no matter what is done now, the economy will continue downward for months more.

As First National City Bank puts it in its monthly economic letter, released Monday: "Further decline is so strongly programmed into the economy ... that it would require gargantuan policy measures to forestall it."

Only by 1976, it believes, "will the fruits of the reversal be clearly evident in the form of a declining unemployment rate, strongly rising sales and improved profits."

In the meantime, the worst recession since the great depression will continue to throw people out of work, threaten the financial stability of corporations and otherwise strangle economic activity.

And if you believe the past is a criterion, the ingredients for the next spasm of the economy, the next boom and bust, are beginning to ferment.

In a strictly mechanical sense, the cutting of taxes should provide economic stimulus. But who really knows what the people of the United States will do with that money?

Twin Oaks Garden Club holds meet

The Twin Oaks Garden Club met with Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes for the January meeting and enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Mrs. Thompson opened by reading the poem, "Pioneer." Roll call and minutes were read by Mrs. Dana Kellenberger and Mrs. Willard Bonham gave the treasurer's report. A thank-you was read from Mrs. Linda O'Pry of the Fayette County Children's Home for holiday arrangements and also from Mrs. Dana Hyer of the Welfare Department.

It was decided to apply for a booth to sell crafts at Bob Evan's next fall and a tentative date was set to meet for a workshop on the crafts for the winter.

Mrs. Virgil Garinger gave a very interesting program on several different subjects. She talked about poinsettias and told how a company had made hybrid plants down to pixies that could even be used in hanging baskets. They have been developed in red, white, pale pink and deep pink.

Mrs. Garinger also told members to protect their winter shrubbery, by placing garbage bags over them or use burlap, and for small shrubs to use a bushel basket over them; tie branches together for the weight of ice and snow. She also told of house plants problems. The most important is the house temperature. The growing comes from right soil and to keep them free of diseases and the methods for which they may be watered, also they may not be watered enough. They should always be left to dry out before applying more. They grown best in garden loam and peat moss.

Mrs. Hoppes served during the social hour to nine members: Mrs. Charles Blizard, Mrs. Harold Bonecutter, Mrs. Willard Bonham, Mrs. Dana Kellenberger, Mrs. Virgil Garinger, Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Mrs. Everett Baird and Mrs. Joe Bonham.

Engaged

MISS ROBBIE S. HUNTER

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hunter of 431 Walnut St., have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Robbie Sue, to David L. Hilderbrand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hilderbrand Sr., of Rowe-Ging Rd.

Miss Hunter is a student at Washington Senior High School. Her fiancé, a senior at Miami Trace High School, is also employed at Hidy's Food Store.

An early August wedding is being planned.

CHUCK ROAST, browned and smothered with onions, is simmered in a sweet-sour liquid (pear syrup, vinegar and spices). It comes to the table with golden Bartlett pear halves.

Economy cut

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

"WHAT'S FOR DINNER?" isn't an idle question, it's a traumatic one. You can stretch a food dollar just so far, then money, not to mention ingenuity, runs out. The only way to keep the budget somewhat balanced is to shop the meat sales and look for cuts that, relatively speaking, are economical. Learn how to cook them in several ways to avoid menu monotony.

Chuck among the more reasonably priced cuts of beef, isn't sirloin but properly prepared it can be a tender, tasty treat.

An ordinary pot roast makes an appealing family or company dinner when prepared Bavarian style with a sweet and sour sauce. Serve it garnished with canned pear halves.

BAVARIAN POT ROAST AND PEARS

1 (29 ounce) can Bartlett pear halves
1 (3 to 4 pound) beef chuck roast
2 tablespoons cooking oil
Salt and pepper
1 medium sweet Spanish onion, sliced
8 whole cloves
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon water
Drain pears, reserving syrup. Brown chuck roast in oil on both sides. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add onion, 1/4 cup reserved pear syrup, cloves, ginger and vinegar. Cover and simmer until tender, about 2 1/2 hours, adding more pear syrup if necessary. Add pears during last 20 minutes of cooking.

Remove pot roast and pears to serving platter and keep warm. Dissolve cornstarch in water and blend into pan liquid. Cook, stirring, until thickened. Adjust seasonings. Spoon part of sauce over pot roast and pears, and pass remainder.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

For Chinese Steak, chuck roast is cut into thin strips, then simmered in bouillon until tender. The Chinese usually add quartered tomatoes and slices of green pepper during the last five minutes of cooking, then it becomes Pepper Steak — a good idea in summer when these vegetables are in season and inexpensive. Serve Chinese Steak and its soy sauce-sparked gravy over beds of fluffy rice.

CHINESE STEAK

2 pounds chuck roast, cut into thin strips
3 tablespoons cooking oil
2 1/2 cups water, divided
2 beef bouillon cubes
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons soy sauce
Hot cooked rice
Brown meat in hot oil. Add 2 cups water and bouillon cubes and bring to boil. Cover and simmer for 1 hour, or until meat is tender.
Blend cornstarch, soy sauce, and 1/2 cup water. Add to meat and cook, stirring, until thickened.
Serve with rice. Makes 4 servings.

Thrifty German cooks have long had an economy secret in their recipe books. Called Roulades, it's yet another way to serve chuck. In this version, the chuck is cut into slices, then pounded very thin. Each is wrapped around a slice of pickle, rolled in flour and browned. After simmering in bouillon for two hours, they're tender and ready to serve with mashed potatoes and your favorite vegetables.

BEEF ROULADES

4 slices chuck roast, 1/2 inch thick
1 dill pickle
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 cups water
2 beef bouillon cubes
Cut each slice of chuck in half. Pound each piece until very thin.
Cut pickle into 8 lengthwise pieces. Place a piece of pickle in the center of each slice of meat. Roll and fasten with toothpicks. Roll in flour.
Brown rolls on all sides in hot oil. Add water and bouillon cubes. Bring to a boil, cover, and lower heat. Simmer for about 2 hours.
Serves 4.

Variety meat flow could slow down

By DON KENDALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of variety meats, including beef tongues and pork livers, have grown steadily and have played an important but little-known role in the fortunes of livestock producers for many years, a report by the Agriculture Department indicated today.

But exports of those meats, also known in the trade as fancy meats and offal, could slow down this year because of cutbacks in hog and sheep slaughter, the report said. Restrictions in Europe, the biggest market, also could have an effect.

Further, meat supplies — including variety cuts — are up in all major meat-producing and importing countries, meaning there will be a stiffer competition for world markets, according to the report.

The report in "Foreign Agriculture," published by the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, was written by Arthur F. Haussmann, a livestock analyst in the agency.

"In calendar 1975, exportable supplies of U.S. variety meat are expected to be down slightly, with about 7 percent more beef offal, 13 percent less pork offal and smaller supplies of sheep offal," the report said.

U.S. variety meat exports in 1974 probably totaled around 300 million pounds, up from 281.9 million in calendar 1973 and the average annual shipments of 172.5 million pounds during the 1961-65 period, the official said.

Community Education accomplishments eyed

A report on the accomplishments of the Community Education program in Washington C.H. during 1974 was heard at a recent meeting of the program's advisory council in the Washington Inn restaurant.

Hank Shaffer, program director, said over 8,000 persons participated in various Community Education classes, activities and special events last year. He said the next series of classes will probably begin in early February.

A report on holiday gym classes was also presented and Shaffer said there were approximately 20 youngsters participating in the recreation activities each day.

Jerry Sheppard was elected chairman of the advisory council's program committee. The committee discussed the possibility of beginning a local drama club under the auspices of the Community Education program.

The publicity committee considered the possibility of printing a brochure to outline the purpose of the Community Education program here. An insert could be included to list new classes.

The possibility of Community Education having its own listing in the next edition of the telephone book was considered by members of the finance committee. The committee members believed an increase in tuition rates would be necessary to meet the proposed expense.

Attending the meeting were advisory council members Kaye Bartlett, Mike Kelley, Mrs. Jerry Sheppard, Mrs. James Ward, Robert Lutz, John Gall, Louie Kuhlwein, Mrs. Robert Lee, John Marcum, Robert Highfield and Edwin Nestor. James Ward was a guest.

The next advisory council meeting will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 30 in the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce office.

Awards presented during annual county corn-soybean club meet

Keith Montgomery, Concord Township, won the youth division and topped all members in the profit category of the new soybean club. These and other winners were announced Monday night at the annual Fayette County Corn-Soybean banquet sponsored by the Fayette County Agronomy Committee in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground.

AWARD WINNERS — Keith Montgomery, right, won the youth division and topped all members in the profit category in the 1974 Fayette County Corn Club, while Gerald Reid was the winner in the youth division of the Fayette County Soybean Club. The awards were presented by Robert Willis, Fayette County Agronomy Committee president, at the annual Fayette County Corn-Soybean banquet Monday in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground. Also pictured is William Diley, vocational-agriculture instructor at Miami Trace High School.

Other winners in the corn club were Robert and Jim Garland, Concord Township, high profit in rotation division; Roger Bonham, Union Township, high yield, rotation division; and Ron Rockhold, Concord Township, high yield and profit, continuous corn division.

Montgomery's winning entry marks the second year in a row that an FFA topped all entries in the corn club. Yields of the winning entries were Montgomery, 147.4 bushel per acre, Garland's 147.3; Bonham's 148.3, and Rockhold's 245.6.

This was the first year for the soybean contest, won by Taylor. Other winners in soybean production were Tom Sams, Jefferson Township, high yield, adult division; and Gerald Reid, Madison Township, high yield and profit, youth division. Yields of the winners were Taylor, 55.1 bushel per acre; Sams, 55.5, and Reid, 50.2.

The 1974 corn club average production was 126 bushels per acre. Average cost figures per acre were fertilizer, $39.33; seed, $8.38; tillage operations, $21.58; herbicides and insecticides, $9.36; and total cost per acre, $142.65 including land charge and harvesting cost. Fayette County Extension Agent, John Gruber announced the awards and summarized the cost figures pointing out that the cost per acre was up from $102.91 in 1973.

The average soybean production figures were 45.7 bushel per acre with costs as follows: fertilizer, $10.12; seed, $8.36; tillage, $17.66; chemicals, $7.28 and total cost per acre, $108.42, including land charge, planting and harvesting costs.

Ray Lockman, agronomist at the Agrico Chemical Co., was on the program and summarized the soil test and plant tissue analysis data for the members. He pointed out where plant nutrients were show stress in the soil and in the plant analysis. Lockman challenged the corn and soybean club members to make more use of the data they had available.

In a brief business meeting new officers and directors for the agronomy committee were elected for 1975. Roger Rapp was elected president to succeed Robert Willis. Cary Bock succeeds Rapp as vice-president and Fred Shoop was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Variance request on board agenda

One variance request will be considered by members of the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals at its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the City Office Building.

Washington C.H. City Manager Dan Wolford, who serves as secretary of the zoning board of appeals, said Mrs. Jeddy Graves, 219 Wagner Way, has submitted an application for a variance to establish a Nationwide Insurance sales and service at 111 Draper Street. The application submitted by Mrs. Graves is the only matter to be considered by the zoning board members.

Mrs. Ford said in good health

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors at Bethesda Naval Hospital say First Lady Betty Ford's latest checkup shows her in "excellent" health.

The first lady underwent four hours of examination Monday, the first extensive series of tests since her September breast cancer surgery.

"Everything turned out well," said the Ford family physician, Dr. William Lukash.

Spend tax rebate, economist urges

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Any tax refund as proposed by President Ford will have to be paid for with a future tax increase, but Americans should still spend the money rather than save it, says the Bank of America's top economist.

"There are no free rides," Walter E. Hoadley, executive vice president of the world's largest commercial bank, said in a speech before a civic group Monday.

"When we turn the corner, let's be prepared to pay for it with higher taxes," Hoadley told the Comstock Club. "It may take one tax cut or two to make people feel better."

Hoadley predicted a tax increase would be "roughly comparable" to the anticipated cut, but he added, "If inflation bubbles up, it might have to be twice as much."

Any tax reduction will be useless if the money isn't spent, Hoadley said — "If you need something and you can afford it, for heaven's sake buy it."

The economist also said: — The U.S. economy will hit bottom and start to rebound "this fall, unless we blow it, and it won't be far below where we are."

—The inflation rate will be about 9 per cent this year, compared with a 1974 level of about 12 per cent.

—The economy "is still exceedingly strong, compared with the past and compared with the rest of the world."

"But we're not only in a recession economically, we're in a depression as far as human psychology is concerned."

"There's a tendency to postpone, to liquidate, to write off 1975 as a disaster. We can't afford to write off any year, least of all this year."

Slated for post

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — J. Howard Sundermann Jr., an attorney, was assured of appointment to the Cincinnati Board of Education to replace outgoing president Charles Lindberg.

Sundermann's name was announced by the Citizens Neighborhood School Committee which holds a majority on the board.

Girl's Lib.

Lo, these many days we have preached the values of newspaper route management. For boys. How it helps a boy learn the principles of business. Builds him a nice bank account. Teaches him to deal with people. Even helps him do better at school. Now, not for boys alone. A girl, too, can have a route of her own . . . with our newspaper. Some already do. And enjoy the same advantages of fun and profit a boy can get from route management. Equal rights it is. So phone us today, young lady, and talk. There may be a route open to you right in your neighborhood. Now.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Winkler, who plays Fonzie, the super-cool, greasy-haired, leather-jacketed high school dropout on ABC's "Happy Days" series, is a Yale man. No kidding.

He has a master's degree from the Yale School of Drama. He grew up in New York but says he wasn't a Fun City Fonzie. He attended private school and wore a tie, a blue blazer and grey slacks each day.

He saw his share of Fonzie's — people here call them "punks" if they are fleet of foot — but says "I gave 'em a lot of room. I'd go upstairs on the roof of the nearest building if they were around."

The 29-year-old actor, a short, joke-cracking man whose hair contains no greasy kid stuff, is as energetic as Fonzie is lazy.

He says he's acted in some 60 plays and two movies — "The Lords of Flatbush" and "Crazy Joe" — since graduating from college in 1967.

The movies came after his graduation from the Yale drama school in 1970, and were followed by one appearance in the "Mary Tyler Moore" and "Bob Newhart" series on CBS.

Winkler, who said his "Mary Tyler Moore" shot consisted of ten speaking lines, almost blew his chance for the Fonzie role by nearly passing up his first big TV break on the Newhart series. It happened this way:

He says he auditioned to play a Puerto Rican on the Newhart show, didn't get the job, but did hear sounds of interest from the casting agent.

His parents were going to France on vacation at the time and wanted him to join them for his 28th birthday.

"I almost went, but then I realized, 'Everything's breaking for you, you cannot go, and if you break the flow you're dead,'" he laughed.

"You have to understand I come from a German-Jewish family where guilt is the main diet," he added, slipping into a Bronx accent: "Ya have ya tomato juice, a little guilt, and then the main course."

So he didn't go to France. He called the casting agent, asked about another part and wound up playing a reformed bank robber who, despite Newhart's counselling, goes and robs another bank.

This led to an audition for the Fonzie role he finally landed.

Vo-ed rules are adopted by Ohio board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Revised standards requiring 82 Ohio school districts to provide minimum vocational education programs by Sept. 1 or face loss of state funds were adopted Monday by the state Board of Education.

The action came during a board organizational meeting at which new officers were elected.

The revised standards set a definite deadline for school districts to meet a state mandate to provide at least 12 different job training offerings and 20 voed classes to their students.

Some 532 of the state's 614 school districts have met the requirement or have voted funds locally to meet it.

The state had set a compliance deadline of Sept. 1, 1974, but Education Department officials said there was some question whether that date was just for "planning" or actually to meet the standard.

So the board set a specific "implementation" deadline of Sept. 1 this year. School districts failing to comply could face a loss of state foundation funds, which on the average provide 40 per cent of all operating revenue.

In related action, the board allocated $309,037 to the Eastland Joint Vocational School District in Franklin County for expansion of job training courses to accommodate pupils from the recently assigned Hamilton Local School District.

William H. Cossler, a Youngstown businessman, was elected board president, succeeding John R. Meckstroth of Cincinnati, who continues as a board member.

Everett L. Jung, an orthopedic surgeon from Hamilton, was elected vice president of the 23-member board.

High school leaders selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Leading Ohio high school powers in The Associated Press poll is nothing new for Wellsville and Norwalk St. Paul, the Class AA and Class A basketball frontrunners this week.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters sent Wellsville and St. Paul to the top of their divisions in the second week of the 1975 ratings Monday.

Barberton, meanwhile, widened its lead in the Class AAA poll.

Wellsville, a scant point ahead of last week's leader Delphos St. John's, is a two-time AP Class AA state poll king, the latest trophy coming last spring for the Tigers, 8-0.

St. Paul is a former AP Class A state football titleholder, winning the crown in 1969. The Norwalk power is off to an 11-0 start in basketball this season.

That impressed the panel enough to give St. Paul 222 points, 10 in front of St. Peter's, 10-2. The Spartans had led Class A by the same margin a week ago.

In Class AAA, 11-0 Barberton rolled up 258 points, 44 ahead of No. 2 Newark, Circleville maintained the third place position in Class AA, followed by Columbus Mohawk, Springfield Shawnee, Waverly, Warsaw River View, Rossford, Lisbon Beaver and Brooklyn.

In Class A, Canal Winchester again claimed No. 3 and then came Anna, Sebring, Lordstown, Windham, Minster, Lorain Clearview and Maria Stein Marion.

NBA All-Star game televised Tuesday

PHOENIX (AP) — All-Star games often are an exercise in exhibitionism and individualism, but the coaches and players participating in tonight's nationally televised National Basketball Association contest are taking the game quite seriously.

"Even though it's basically a fun game, there is a lot of pride and determination involved and we will be out to win," said Washington's K.C. Jones, coach of the underdog East team.

"Even though individual skills and abilities will be greatly in evidence, I think it will be a very competitive game," commented Golden State's Al Attles, whose West team is rated a slight favorite.

The East, leading the series 15-9 going into the 25th All-Star game, will be out to avenge last year's 134-123 beating at Seattle and losses in three of the last four games.

In the East's only victory since 1970, a 104-84 decision at Chicago in 1973, it held the West to the lowest point-total since 1953, when the West won 79-75.

Tonight, Attles is not worried about his team's offense, which is powered by Golden State forward Rick Barry, the league's leading scorer, and Milwaukee center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the NBA's all-time scoring average leader entering this season. Attles is concerned, however, about the West's ability to contain the East, led by Buffalo center Bob McAdoo, this season's scoring runner-up, and veterans John Havlicek of Boston and Walt Frazier of New York.

"I hope our defense will be able to keep us in the ball game," said Attles. Attles and Jones are making sports history. They are the first blacks ever to coach teams in a major all-star game. They were selected because their teams had the best records in their conferences at the mid-season break.

The starting lineups were chosen by the fans for the first time. In addition to Barry, Gail Goodrich and Abdul-Jabbar, the West will open with forward Spencer Haywood of Seattle and guard Nate Archibald of Kansas City-Omaha.

The job of trying to keep up with Archibald will fall to either Frazier or his New York backcourt partner, Earl Monroe. The East's other starter will be Elvin Hayes of Washington.

The game will begin at 10 p.m., EST at the 13,028-seat Veterans Memorial Coliseum.

Good Hope bowling team takes Lions Club tourney

The Good Hope Lions No. 1 team captured top honors in the first Lions Club area bowling tournament at Bowland Sunday.

All Zone 2 clubs in District 13-J participated. The area includes Washington C.H., Good Hope, Bloomingburg, Sabina, Wilmington, Port William and Jeffersonville.

The Good Hope team posted a score of 3053 to lead second place Port William by more than 100 pins. Port William had 2912, Washington C.H. was third with 2904 and Sabina No. 1 took fourth place with a 2894 score.

The trophy for the high scratch game went to George Hellenthal, of the Washington C.H. club, who had a 220 game. Bob Chaney had the high series scratch with a 565, and Jim Greene, Bloomingburg, had the high series handicap at 634.

District Governor Scott Rigdom, from West Union, announced a district-wide tournament will be held at the Bowland Lanes March 16. It will be directed by Richard Coates, first vice president of the Washington C.H. Lions.

In all nearly 100 Lions and 50 guests attended Sundays matches and a buffet lunch was served.

Indiana stall defeats Gophers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Minnesota's Bill Musselman, a bitter coaching rival of Indiana's Bobby Knight, doesn't approve of the way the top-ranked Hoosiers beat his 16th-rated Gophers Monday night, but he considers their tactics a compliment.

Indiana's slowdown in the closing minutes forced Minnesota out of its tight zone defense and into a man-to-man. The Hoosiers then outscored Minnesota 21-4 for their 18th consecutive victory, 79-59.

"They've been blowing everyone off the floor," said Musselman, who's had a running feud with Knight ever since the two young coaches came into the Big Ten three years ago.

"The stall was good strategy," Musselman said. "But when the No. 1 team in the country holds the ball for six minutes against a bunch of freshmen and sophomores, I think that shows what they think of our club."

Knight, who now has a 77-19 record at Indiana including 15 in a row this year and four straight in conference play, explained the stall by saying, "We had enough points that we were only going to shoot if we got an uncontested layup or got fouled. We just wanted to hold the ball with the lead."

He admitted, however, that the Gophers "gave us a lot of trouble with their inside game."

Minnesota led by five points, 21-16, before the Hoosiers battled back to a 43-37 halftime lead.

Gopher freshman Mark Olberding led all scorers with 23 points, while teammate Mike Thompson added 16. Indiana was led by Scott May with 19, while Kent Benson added 17 and Steve Green 14.

Minnesota fell to 3-2 in the Big Ten and 10-3 overall.

In other games involving the top 20, No. 7 Alabama edged Mississippi 74-71 and No. 10 Kentucky defeated No. 18 Tennessee 88-82.

Clutch free throw shooting by Leon Douglas, Charles Russell and substitute Johnny Dill lifted Alabama past Mississippi. All three came through on both ends of one-and-one situations in the closing minutes to help the Crimson Tide raise its record to 10-1, including 4-0 in the SEC.

Reserve Jack Givens keyed a 12-1 surge midway through the second half that carried Kentucky past Southeastern Conference rival Tennessee.

The Wildcats, 10-2, squandered a 14-point lead and were tied 67-67 when Givens went to work. The freshman scored six points as Kentucky raced out to a 79-68 lead with 3:55 to play and then coasted home.

Keith Starr scored six of his 22 points in overtime to spark Pitt to an 84-77 victory over Notre Dame.

Pitt never led in regulation and was down by as many as 13 points in the second half. But the Panthers finally tied the score on a spinning layin by Lew Hill with seven seconds left.

Pitt took an immediate lead in the overtime, but Notre Dame tied the score at 73 and again at 75. Starr then put Pitt ahead to stay on a driving lay-up with 3:45 to play and added four straight free throws to build a decisive edge.

Rudy Liggins, scoreless in the first half, came up with 18 points in the second half to help Texas Tech trip Houston 86-82.

Elsewhere, Ricky Coleman's 25 points, mostly from outside, helped Jacksonville beat Nebraska-Omaha 75-60; Bill Andreas scored nine consecutive points midway through the second half to help Ohio State beat Iowa 44-77, and Dan Bonner's 15-foot jumper at the buzzer gave Virginia a 58-56 triumph over Davidson.

Meanwhile, the nation's top small college team, Kentucky State, hiked its season record to 9-0.

Ohio State beats Iowa

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Fred Taylor and Lute Olson, the opposing coaches, agreed Ohio State's 94-77 Big Ten basketball victory over Iowa Monday night wasn't that overwhelming.

"It wasn't as easy as it looked," said Taylor, the Buckeyes' coach. "Not with all the people we had in foul trouble." Olson, Iowa's first-year coach, added, "We came out real tough in the second half and made it a one-point game."

When the Buckeyes crept to within 46-45, another rash of turnovers caught Iowa. The Buckeyes went on an 11-2 spurt to put the decision away.

"We have a real problem with our ballhandling," Olson said. Of the Hawkeyes' 34 turnovers, 19 of them in the first half when Ohio State led 46-39.

"I've got to admit our kids played pretty well when it got hairy," said Taylor, whose team is 2-2 in the conference and 8-6 overall.

"It looked for a while like the clock might be stopped until midnight," he joked, referring to the long game in which the Hawkeyes fouled 53 times and 53 turnovers.

The victory was costly for Ohio State. Steve Wenner, a first line sub, was lost for two to three weeks with an ankle sprain.

Bill Andreas was the hero of Ohio State's second-half pullaway, connecting for nine straight points in one stretch and scoring 15 of team-leading 19 points.

"I like the way he came to life," said Taylor. "I also liked the play of the guards. (Mark) Bayless had eight assists and (Larry) Bolden nine."

Iowa, paced by junior college transfer Dan Frost's 20 points, slipped to 2-2 in the Big Ten and 5-8 for all games.

The Hawkeyes, however, lost three players via five personal fouls and were assessed 29 personals and one technical foul. Ohio State, called for 26 personals, lost one player.

Biddy blunder

Bloomington residents will be happy to know their elementary basketball team defeated Jeffersonville Elementary Saturday. The score was Bloomington 23, Jeffersonville 21. The score appearing Monday was incorrect.

Hoosiers atop collegiate poll

By The Associated Press
Indiana, which extended its unbeaten record with victories over Big Ten rivals Michigan and Iowa last week, also extended its lead over second-ranked UCLA in this week's Associated Press major college basketball poll.

The Hoosiers, who took over the No. 1 spot from defending national champion North Carolina State last week, beat Michigan 90-76 and then walloped Iowa 102-49 and opened a 144-point lead over the Bruins in this week's voting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, announced Monday.

Indiana received 36 first-place votes and 972 points, while UCLA drew nine No. 1 markings and 848 points. Louisville, another major unbeaten, received the only other two first-place votes and 730 points to rank third.

Voting is based on games through last Saturday, at which point Indiana was 14-0, UCLA 12-0 and Louisville 11-0. Indiana was the only member of the three to play Monday night, beating 16th-ranked Minnesota 79-59 for its 15th triumph of the year.

N.C. State, Maryland and Southern Cal retained the next three spots in the poll, while Alabama and Oregon each moved up a notch, to Nos. 7 and 8, respectively. Arizona State jumped from 12th to ninth and Kentucky slipped from seventh to 10th after suffering its second loss of the season.

The second ten had LaSalle, Marquette, Arizona, North Carolina, Providence, Minnesota, Rutgers, Tennessee, Michigan and South Carolina.

Coach yanks himself as teams wins

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard took himself out of the lineup because he wasn't coaching well and his team wasn't setting any records for good basketball.

Immediately, the coaching — and playing — took a turn for the better. With the Pacers leading the Virginia Squires 64-60 midway through the third quarter, Leonard decided he had seen and done enough. So he walked off the court.

"I was doing a lousy job," Leonard said. "That's what we got other people for."

Jerry Oliver, a Pacers assistant coach, took over the bench duties and eventually guided the Pacers to a 105-88 American Basketball Association victory over the Squires Monday night.

There was no other action in the ABA.

The National Basketball Association had no games scheduled Monday night and will play its annual All-Star Game tonight.

The Pacers had led by as many as 12 points before Virginia came back and Leonard went out the back way.

In Leonard's absence, George McGinnis got some of it back for the Pacers. McGinnis scored 14 of his 36 points in the fourth period as Indiana bolted to a 22-point lead late in the game. He also had 15 rebounds and seven assists in the game.

Darnell Hillman had 16 points and Billy Knight 15 for the Pacers. The Squires, who have lost eight in a row, were led by Dave Twardzik and Lloyd Batts with 16 points each and David Vaughn with a career-high 21 rebounds.

Summer olympics fate eyed

QUEBEC (AP) — The fate of the 1976 Summer Olympic Games may be settled not by Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau, the International Olympic Committee or the Olympic Organizing Committee but by a special Quebec national assembly committee which sits today.

The Games are in jeopardy because of a strike by 12,000 Quebec iron workers halting work at about 30 major construction projects in Montreal, including work on the site of Games in city's east end.

The striking iron workers have formed a common front of three labor federations — the Quebec Federation of Labor (QFL), the Confederation of National Trade Unions (CNTU) and the Centrale des Syndicats Democratiques (CSD).

The chairman of today's special committee, Art Seguin, said the three labor federations and three employer groups including Quebec's largest — the Montreal Construction Association — are scheduled to testify.

Labor Minister Jean Coutuier last week warned the Olympics could be canceled if the strike is not settled by Wednesday, but during the weekend indicated he had "found the solution" for Quebec's strike-plagued construction industry.

Middle School drops 2 games

Washington Middle School basketball teams suffered through a long evening at Circleville Monday losing both the seventh and eighth grade basketball games.

The elder players had an especially difficult time losing their fifth consecutive game, 41-23. Fred Jones led the local troops scoring eight points for Washington. Other scoring were Rick Nichols, four, Jim McDonald, Larry Brickles and Steve Pritchett, three points each, and Rod Tyree with two.

The seventh grade team dipped below the .500-mark as it lost 26-20. Tom Shields led the team with 10 markers. The remaining points went to Cassidy, with six, Richmond and Belles, two each. The loss dropped the team to a 2-3 record.

Feller says Hunter didn't get enough

MEMPHIS (AP) — Hall of Fame right-hander Bob Feller says Catfish Hunter didn't get enough money in his recent jump to the New York Yankees.

Hunter used his free agent status to leave the Oakland A's for a baseball package deal estimated at $3.75 million. But his actual salary was reported to be $200,000 annually for the next five years.

Cold temperatures moved across Ohio today.

After highs in the teens and lower 20s Monday, the mercury plunged downward overnight. By early morning, temperatures ranged from 8 degrees at Mansfield to 17 at Cincinnati's airport.

Mostly cloudy skies remained over Ohio during the night with scattered snow flurries in many areas.

Cold temperatures and cold temperatures will dominate the state today. Highs today will recover into the upper teens and lows 20s. A chance of scattered snow flurries exists with accumulations possible in the northeast snowbelt counties. A few snow squalls there may drift in off the lake dropping 1 to 3 inches.

A ridge moves across Ohio tonight, bringing the snow flurries to an end except in the northeast.

More cold temperatures are anticipated tonight-with the thermometer dropping into the 5-15 degree range.

Another storm approaching from the west will produce another cloudy day Wednesday. Temperatures will warm into the 20s.

Chance of snow Thursday and Friday, ending Saturday. Highs in the upper 20s and 30s Thursday, dropping into the 20s Friday and Saturday. Lows in the teens.

Suspended jail sentences meted

Two persons were fined on charges of petty theft Monday in Municipal Court by acting Judge Omar Schwartz.

Arthur B. Schoenthal, 24, Wilmington, and Frank Groves, Jr., 19, of 1143 Rawlings St., were both fined $50 and received suspended three-month jail sentences pending two years good behavior after they pleaded guilty to charges of petty theft of pop bottles.

Malcomb J. MacDonald, 61, South Solon, was ordered to be held in city jail until he finds transportation to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe after Judge Schwartz found him guilty of disorderly conduct by intoxication.

Eugene Geer, 52, of 5386 Palmer Road, forfeited $25 bond Monday on a charge of leaving mud deposits on a roadway.

Alley vacation petitions received

Commission okays ditch project

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners approved the Kellough ditch improvement project at the final hearing held Monday afternoon.

The commissioners ordered Fayette County engineer Charles P. Wagner to proceed with advertising for construction bids, which are to be received in the county commissioners' office by Feb. 24 at 11 a.m.

In other afternoon business, the commissioners submitted bid advertisements for two new sheriff cruisers to be received by Feb. 18 at 11 a.m. and received two petitions from Howard Smith, Zimmerman Road, and Lucy Smith, 9856 Washington-New Martinsburg Road, to vacate public alleys located in the village of New Martinsburg.

The alleys in question are: The alley running from Cross Street to Main Street between lots 18,19,22, and 23; the alley running parallel to Main Street between lots 17,18,21 and 22; the alley running parallel with Ellis Street between lots 2,3,14 and 15; the alley running parallel with Main Street lots 1-4 and 13-16; the alley running parallel with Main Street between lots 47-54; the alley running parallel to South Street between lots 48,49,52 and 53; and the alley running parallel to South Street between lots 50,51 and a 3.73 acre tract.

The commissioners also approved a resolution prepared by county prosecuting attorney James A. Kiger, which states the county commissioners have approved the sale of the hospital farm by Fayette Memorial Hospital, but they do not approve the proposed use of the money by the hospital board; that of "spending their capital assets to build Phase I of their expansion program," said J. Herbert Perrill.

Two teacher strikes continue

while school officials said the schools would remain open, despite the picketers.

In Greenville, the board of education threatened to start filling the posts of striking teachers with new employees today. Some 138 teachers responded with letters saying their posts were not vacant.

The teachers struck the 4,500-student system because they had not received promised salary increases, as well as in protest of staff and curriculum cuts planned by the board.

Kiwanis members try hand at being juvenile judges

The guest speaker at the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club meeting Monday night in the Lafayette Inn was Judge Don Breckenridge, juvenile and domestic relations judge in Franklin County.

The judge is a member of the Grove City Kiwanis Club and he was accompanied by three other members of the Grove City club.

The Kiwanis Club members tried their hand at being juvenile judges as Breckenridge explained the testimony rendered in several cases and then asked the members how they would have ruled.

He also asked those in attendance to impose sentence on youths convicted of various crimes, including habitual truancy, burglary, purse snatching, vehicular homicide and riding a sled on a public thoroughfare. A lively discussion followed each member's response.

Reports were heard from Ron Lott on future Key Club activities and from Ora Burdge concerning a recent American Field Service meeting held at the Washington C.H. Middle School.

Ben Roby and Tom LeVan attended the meeting as guests of members Louie Kuhlwein and Lott.

Milk output down from 1973

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary figures by the Agriculture Department show that milk production per cow increased last year after slumping in 1973 for the first time since World War II.

But the slight gain in average production per cow did not prevent another decline in total U.S. milk output, estimated at less than 114.86 billion pounds. That was a dip of seven-tenths of 1 per cent from 1973 production and was the lowest level since 1952, according to USDA records.

Dairy experts in the department think 1975 production will decline again, although there could be some recovery late in the year if big corn and other crops materialize and feed costs go down from current high levels.

The 1974 crop in total milk production was far less than a 3.5 per cent decline in 1973. Average milk output per cow in 1973 declined to 10,125 pounds per animal from 10,250 the previous year. The 1974 average was 10,291 pounds, a record high.

Also, the figures showed, the U.S. dairy cow inventory — which has been declining for many years — dropped again in 1974 to 11,161,000 head, a decline of 258,000 from 1973. That put the average number of cows on farms last year to its smallest total in nearly a century of USDA records.

BROWNIES

Brownie Troop 1295 has had a variety of projects for the past year. We have a group of 18 girls who met once a week on Friday's after school until 6 p.m. We organized in September and became familiar with the Brownie program. Since we had many new girls and leaders, it was a time of learning for all.

During October, we learned the art of decoupage. Each girl made two wooden plaques for her room at home. We also learned to weave loops into potholders, which the girls sell.

A busy month was November, for we toured Cudahy Cheese and Pennington Bread Companies. The girls enjoyed both of these as they learned about food processing.

We spent two weeks preparing a float for the Christmas parade. The juniors worked with us on this project. All of the girls enjoyed the thrill of being in a parade even though we were soaked by rain.

Our community service projects consisted of a food basket for Thanksgiving to which each girl participated. At the Christmas party, each girl brought a good used toy to give a needy child.

We had an Investiture Service and program at the end of the year, when new girls became official Brownies. While the parents enjoyed a dessert, girls played a passing party.

We hope 1975 will be as much fun as 1974 was.

by

Charlie Pensyl

Got problems? Join the crowd. Every year about this time it would appear that every camera user has problems and the camera's never been made that works properly. So the poor snapshotter brings his camera into a camera shop and pours out his tale of woe. Like sad, man. Truth is, however, in more than 50 per cent of the cases there's not a single thing wrong with the hardware. That's right, about half the time the problem is with the user. Much of the time the guy never even looked at the instruction book. I kid you not, lots of these people think the manual is for the other guy. Let me tell you something: The pro ALWAYS studies the manual with every new piece of equipment he gets. It's the num-nums that can't be bothered with instructions.

Where the dealer is a trifle unscrupulous (I'm sure there are a few such dealers somewhere) there is always a nice repair charge, whether the camera needed work or not. And, believe it or not, some of these characters would rather pay a repair charge than be told that the fault is not in the camera, but about 3 inches behind it. Sure, we try to use tact. What I'm trying to say is that there are millions of buck wasted every year — yes, literally millions — just because some of these num-nums are too — well, at least they won't read the book.

Now on the other hand, there are more and more products reaching dealer's shelves these days that defy all the stories we hear about the great quality control in some of these plants. And here again you better have a dealer who can be depended on to be on your side and will go to bat for you with the manufacturer or, dad, you're in a heap of trouble. I kid you not.

Yes, the honest photo dealer wants to help you. That's a big part of his job. On the other hand, you the photographer have a responsibility to at least read the instruction manual. At our place, when we sell an SLR or similar piece of hardware, we insist that we should sit down with the purchaser and go over every point in the manual and make sure the buyer knows exactly how to use the product. Then we followup by checking his pix to see that his results are what he hoped for. We figure the guy is due that much for buying from us.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Tics and Spasms

Our 8-year-old boy, who is in excellent health, develops tics and spasms of the face at various times during the week.

Frankly, we don't know how to handle this and are just hoping that it will disappear by itself.

Mrs. R.E., S.D.

Dear Mrs. E.:

Tics such as you describe are always evidence of a stressful situation at school, at play or in the home.

Casual disregard of these symptoms of emotional disturbance can do your child a great injustice.

"Time" may be a healer, but it certainly is not a dependable one. A mild cold or infection is self-limiting and recovery will occur even without any treatment.

But time working in cooperation with neglect is a combination that must be avoided. Many physical and emotional problems are exaggerated and complicated with the passage of time.

It is most important that you review your son's activities and try to pinpoint specific periods of pressure that may exaggerate the tics. Some children, for example, may feel that they are incapable of keeping up with their peers in competitive play. Others may feel inadequate in classroom skills. If too much pressure is exerted by the teacher, some symptoms may result.

Still others may find it too hard to measure up to the standards set by their parents. Such inner tension reflects itself in tics and habit spasms.

You will find consultation with a psychologist most gratifying. Many ingenious methods of testing are available. Children do not resent them. In fact they seem to enjoy the game-like tests.

In his interpretation of the tests, the psychologist very often can localize with great accuracy the areas of emotional pressure that may be responsible for the problem.

Investigation of a child's emotional problems should not be delayed. Behavior problems become more fixed as time goes on and become more difficult to correct.

If your son had a physical problem you undoubtedly would bring this immediately to the attention of your family physician. Emotional problems, too, should be brought to his attention. Under his direction and guidance, a well-trained psychologist can be found, in private practice or in clinics.

Their combined recommendation may give you new insight into your child's emotions and help reestablish his emotional security.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Opening lead — seven of clubs.

Life is strewn with disappointments, as anyone who plays bridge can readily testify. Consider East's feelings in this deal where he doubled four spades, expecting to reap a rich harvest, and wound up a sadder but wiser man when declarer made the contract with an overtrick!

It all came about as follows: West led a club, won by South with the king, and declarer led the eight of diamonds, West playing the nine and dummy the queen.

Declarer thereupon cashed the A-Q of clubs, discarding the king of diamonds, played a heart to the ace and ruffed a heart. He then ruffed the eight of clubs and followed it with a second heart ruff to produce this position:

North
♠ Q

West
Immaterial

East
♠ K J 10 3 2

Having won all the tricks thus far, declarer played a diamond from dummy and East found it impossible to win more than two tricks with his elegant trumps. If he ruffed low, South would overruff and trump a heart with the queen to hold himself to two losers, while if he ruffed with the ten, South would overruff with the ace and once again trump a heart with the queen to achieve the same result.

West could have stopped the contract by taking the ace of diamonds at trick two and playing another diamond at trick three. Had he done that, he would have faced a less disgruntled partner on the next deal.

3 marooned by snow rescued

BROOKINGS, S.D. (AP) — Richard Bielski says his only nourishment during the 40 hours he was trapped in his snowbound car was frost he scraped from the windshield and some candies he had in the vehicle.

"I spaced them out because I had no idea how long I'd be there," the former Minnehaha County state's attorney said Monday from his hospital bed here.

Bielski, whose legs were frozen, was trapped in his car late Friday when it slid from Interstate 29 some 35 miles north of Sioux Falls and into five feet of snow. The Sioux Falls man said he could not open the doors of his car and that when the battery of his car went dead several hours later he was unable to open the automatic windows.

"I was sitting in the car with very little oxygen," Bielski said. "I don't know how I ever made it. Only the good Lord knows...."

"I was just praying with every bit of prayer I have in my body to save my legs," he said. "They were just frozen solid. The doctors are fearful of saving my lower limbs."

Bielski said three livestock truckers rescued him Sunday afternoon when they saw him waving through a peephole he had scraped through the frost on the inside of the vehicle.

The truckers hailed a passing motorist who drove Bielski to Brookings.

The winter snowstorm that caught Bielski also brought two 19-year-olds, David Archer of Sioux Falls and Julie Williams of Round Lake, Minn., together in another episode that almost ended in death.

Archer was driving a van on Interstate 90 west of Sherburn, Minn., Friday evening when he stopped to avoid Miss Williams' storm-stalled car. She climbed into his van, but his vehicle got stuck.

Although his vehicle was not equipped for camping, his mother, Maureen Archer, said he was carrying a sleeping bag, a wool blanket and a quilt. Both he and Miss Williams were wearing snowmobile suits.

Mrs. Archer said her son kept the van's motor running intermittently until 5 a.m. Saturday, when he ran out of gas. A thermometer in the vehicle registered zero.

The two huddled together in the sleeping bag and rubbed each other's feet to keep the circulation going. They survived the cold without frostbite.

Their only food was two cans of soup, a loaf of bread and some honey.

Mrs. Archer said the two slept alternately, but both had dozed off when a highway crew found them about 6 a.m. Sunday and pried open the frozen doors.

"It is a lucky thing that those men came by when they did because I don't think they would have awakened, ever," Mrs. Archer said.

THREE INJURED — A Jeffersonville man and woman and a Fairborn man, who were traveling in this car were injured at 2 p.m. Monday, when the pictured truck, driven by Howard V. Weiderhold, of New Vienna ran a stop sign at the intersection of Pleasant View Road and Ohio 734. The Jeffersonville residents, Gary W. Gauggel and Darlene Watson, have been admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital, while the Fairborn man, Thomas Paumier, was treated and released.

Three hurt in rural crackup

Three persons were injured in a car-truck collision which occurred Monday afternoon, when a truck driver failed to stop for a stop sign.

Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Dave Krupla, the investigating officer at the scene, explained a truck driven by Howard V. Weiderhold, 56, of New Vienna, failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection of Pleasant View Road and Ohio 734 at 2 p.m. Monday and crashed broadside into a car driven by Gary W. Gauggel, 21, Jeffersonville. He and his two passengers, Darlene Watson, 22, Jeffersonville, and Thomas J. Paumier, 19, Fairborn, were injured and taken by ambulance to Fayette Memorial Hospital where Paumier was treated and released and Gauggel and Ms. Watson were admitted.

Gauggel is presently in guarded condition suffering from chest and abdominal pain and facial lacerations; while Ms. Watson is in fair condition suffering from pelvic and chest pains. Paumier was treated for back pain and a lacerated finger on the left hand and released.

Deputy Krupla stated after the initial crash, both vehicles traveled into the ditch at the southern corner of the intersection and damaged a stop sign there. Weiderhold's truck was moderately damaged and the Gauggel auto was demolished. Weiderhold was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES investigated three additional accidents, one of which was a hit-skip and the Washington C.H. Police Department reported one accident which occurred Monday afternoon.

A rear-end collision involving a truck driven by Steven M. Hayslip, 23, Mount Sterling, and a car driven by Mark R.

Tilley, 21, Mount Sterling, occurred on Cook-Yankee Road, eight-tenths of a mile east of CCC Highway-E, at 10:40 a.m. Monday.

Tilley was struck by Hayslip's truck when he slowed to turn into a private driveway. His car was moderately damaged, while the truck was only slightly damaged. Hayslip was cited by sheriff's deputies for not maintaining an assured clear distance ahead.

A car driven by Nancy E. Thompson, 29, of South Solon, crashed into a gas pump at the Jeffersonville Elementary School parking lot, at 9:35 a.m. Monday, sheriff's deputies reported.

The Thompson auto had skidded on ice into the pump, breaking it off at its base.

A stop sign at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Ohio 729 was damaged by a hit-skip driver sometime Monday, sheriff's deputies reported.

A truck driven by Alvin Sexten, 66, Prairie Road, and a car driven by William L. Rowe, 25, of 541 Waverly Ave., collided at 3:23 p.m. Monday, at the entrance of Larkin's Arco service station at the corner of S. Hinde and W. Court streets.

Damage to both vehicles was minor and no one was injured.

Girl hitchhiker brutally slain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police have raised the possibility that the slaying of a young woman hitchhiker may have been inspired by the Zebra attacks of last year.

"The motiveless and senseless style of attack is similar to the Zebra killings," Homicide Inspector Frank Falzon said Monday. "We are investigating the possibility that there may be a link. It's a possibility we cannot rule out at this time."

Thirteen white persons, many pedestrians, were slain at random here in 1974 by blacks for no apparent reason.

Janet Rodgers, 20, a white art student from Cincinnati, Ohio, was fatally shot in the head early Monday by a young black man, police said. She and a companion had been picked up by the man who drove them to Ocean

Beach and suddenly opened fire with a revolver, they added.

The companion, Julia Kebling, 20, also of Cincinnati, a student nurse, survived by playing dead while the attacker emptied his weapon into the two young women after they fell on the sand.

Miss Kehling, shot in the back of the neck, was reported in satisfactory condition at San Francisco General Hospital.

In Cincinnati, Miss Rodgers' stepfather, George Leonard, described the slain woman as "a good person. One of the best." Her father died several years ago and her mother married Leonard.

Falzon said Miss Kebling gave officers this account: She and Miss Rodgers were hitchhiking when a young black man, about 24, offered them a lift about 1:30 a.m. near Pacifica, about 20 miles south of San Francisco.

As they drove along Ocean Beach, south of the Golden Gate, the man suggested the two women get out of the car and enjoy the moonlit view.

Miss Kebling said they were standing on the beach about 60 feet from the car when the man drew his gun and opened fire. She said Miss Rodgers stumbled and fell over her. She lay on the sand as he emptied the gun and then left.

After he left, Miss Kebling ran screaming to a nearby house and called police.

Four black men have been charged with murder in three of last year's so-called Zebra killings which Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said were the work of Death Angels, a fanatical black group committed to killing and mutilating whites. The existence of such a cult has not been confirmed.

Adapting to the geography over the centuries, the people of Lapland evolved into three distinct groups — coastal, forest and mountain people. The more settled coastal and forest Lapps have been drawn into the mainstream of modern European life.

West Virginia battles snowfall

By The Associated Press
Most West Virginia schools planned to reopen today, as highway crews applied massive salt doses and residents applied shovels to the snow storm that dumped up to a foot of snow over most of the state.

A travelers' advisory was issued Monday for the Eastern Panhandle, eastern mountains and southern portions of the state, where freezing rain rather than snow fell Sunday and Monday.

The National Weather Service said the storm dropped 12.6 inches of snow on Charleston, 7 on Huntington, 10 on Parkersburg, 12 on Clarksburg, 9 on Buckhannon and Weston, 5 on Wheeling, 3 on Keyser and 4 on Elkins.
